

Giving to Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy Through Your Will or Trust

By making a planned gift to Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy, you can impart a living monument, a landscape unlike any other, as your legacy for future generations.

A bequest, or gifts made through a will or living trust, is a favored method of giving that is both simple and revocable. Bequests allow you to retain control of your assets during your lifetime and reduce your estate taxes. Through a bequest, you may contribute for general uses or specific purposes of land and water conservation and stewardship or make a contribution to an existing fund, such as an endowment or long-term investment. Either option ensures that your charitable wishes will be carried out for the benefit of our mountain region.
